Raksha Bandhan Celebration

A THREAD OF LOVE. A BOND OF PROTECTION. A NATION UNITED.

Dear Parents,

“ This Raksha Bandhan, We Celebrated
a Bond That Goes Beyond Blood ”

Raksha Bandhan is a festival of love, trust, and protection. But at Good Day Defence Sainik School, Hanumangarh, this year, our students discovered a deeper meaning behind the sacred thread, a thread that can also connect a grateful nation to the brave hearts who stand guard for it.

With creativity in their hands and patriotism in their hearts, students across Grades 1–12 came together to honour the courage, dedication, and spirit of our soldiers through thoughtfully designed Raksha Bandhan activities.

A FESTIVAL
THAT BINDS HEARTS.

A NATION
THAT THANKS
ITS GUARDIANS.

RAKSHA BANDHAN SPECIAL

COVER PAGE

Grades UKG-2 | A Rakhi for My Brave Hero

Our youngest learners poured their innocent love and admiration into colourful handmade rakhis through Rakhi Making.

For them, a rakhi became more than a craft, it became a little symbol of love for a hero who protects millions of families like theirs.

Grades 3-5 | A Rakhi for My Soldier Brother

Students created beautiful rakhis for their "Soldier Brother", imagining the brave men and women who spend festivals far from their own families so that we can celebrate safely with ours.

Their tiny hands created threads carrying a big message:

"Thank you for protecting our today and securing our tomorrow."

Grades 6–8 | A Rakhi for the Heroes Who Guard Us

For students of Grades 6–8, Rakhi Making became an expression of respect, gratitude, and patriotism.

As they created each rakhi, they reflected on the courage of those who remain vigilant while the rest of the nation sleeps peacefully.

“Every rakhi became a silent salute.”

Grades 9–10 | A Rakhi Letter to My Brother at the Border

Students of Grades 9–10 expressed their emotions through Card Making inspired by the theme ‘A Rakhi Letter to My Brother at the Border.’

Their words carried the feelings that are sometimes difficult to say aloud: love, pride, gratitude, longing, and respect for a soldier celebrating away from home.

Because while families wait for their loved ones to return, our soldiers wait too, standing firm in their duty to the nation.

— ∞ Grades 11–12 | A Rakhi Tribute to My Brother in Uniform ∞ —

Our senior students paid a heartfelt tribute through Poster Making on the theme 'A Rakhi Tribute to My Brother in Uniform.'

Their creative expressions celebrated the uniform not merely as clothing, but as a symbol of discipline, courage, responsibility, and service to the nation.

A Thread of Love. A Salute to Courage.

This Raksha Bandhan reminded our students of something truly powerful:

- ★ Some brothers protect their families.
- ★ Some protect an entire nation.

While we tie rakhis at home, our soldiers stand at borders, guarding the tricolour and millions of dreams behind it.

At GDDS, we believe education is not only about what children learn from books—it is also about the values they carry in their hearts. Through this celebration, our students learnt to honour courage, appreciate sacrifice, and understand that patriotism begins with gratitude.

This Raksha Bandhan, our students did not just make rakhis. They wove love into every thread, gratitude into every creation, and patriotism into every heartfelt tribute.

To every soldier who stands between our homes and danger.
This Rakhi, the nation stands with you.

Your courage is our strength.
Your sacrifice is our freedom.
And your service will always be remembered.

Jai Hind!

Warm regards,
