Dear Parents,

September 12 offered a beautiful glimpse into the complete GDDS experience from an energetic early-morning drill and focused classroom assessments to NCC, yoga, library time, tree plantation and the warmth of hostel life. It was a day where discipline, learning, responsibility and togetherness came together naturally.

Morning Drill | Starting the Day with Discipline

The day began early with the morning drill, setting an energetic and disciplined tone for the day ahead. The synchronised movements and structured routine help students develop discipline, alertness, coordination and a sense of responsibility, qualities that become an integral part of their everyday lives.

A New Day on Campus | Students Arrive

As the school day came alive, students arrived on campus and the corridors soon filled with the familiar rhythm of school life. Students walking through the corridors, settling into their routines and getting ready for the day's learning captured the simple, everyday moments that make campus life special.

Assessments & Learning | Knowledge in Action

The classrooms were buzzing with focused academic activity as students put their learning to the test. Young learners tested their general awareness and understanding through a GK assessment. Students worked on analogy and classification, engaging their minds in logical thinking, observation and reasoning. Our youngest learners practised identifying and writing missing vowels, strengthening their early language and literacy skills.

Science | Exploring Matter Around Us

Science learning continued across different grades. Students explored the different states of matter and strengthened their understanding of how matter exists and behaves. Class 8 students further explored the concept of matter around us, connecting scientific ideas with the world they observe every day.

NCC Training | Discipline in Practice

Class 7 students participated in NCC training, where discipline, teamwork, coordination and responsibility came together through structured practice. NCC provides students with experiences that encourage them to become more confident, disciplined and responsible individuals.

Library & Yoga | Learning, Reflection and Well-Being

Library

The Library offered students time to read, explore and discover new ideas. Every book opens a new possibility to learn something unfamiliar, imagine a different world or simply develop the habit of reading independently.

Yoga

Class 10 students took time away from academic routines for Yoga, practising mindful movement, balance and focus. Especially during an academically demanding period, such moments help students appreciate the importance of maintaining well-being alongside achievement.

Tree Plantation

Growing a Greener Tomorrow

Students also participated in tree plantation, turning environmental awareness into action. Planting a tree is a simple act with a lasting message: care for nature today, and help create a better tomorrow.

Leadership in Action

Principal Meets the Coordinators

The Principal held a meeting with the coordinators, bringing together academic leadership and planning. Such meetings help ensure that teaching, student development and school operations continue to move forward with clarity, coordination and a shared purpose.

Mess Life

Healthy Eating, Healthy Growing

Good Food
Brighter Days

At mealtime, students gathered in the mess for healthy and nourishing food. For a boarding school, meals are more than a daily routine, they are an important part of building healthy habits, energy and a sense of community.

Hostel Life

Where School Becomes Home

As the academic day moved towards its close, another important side of GDDS came alive, the hostel experience.

Students studied together, spent time with their friends and eventually settled down to sleep, creating the familiar rhythm of residential school life.

From shared studies to shared laughter, from friendship to bedtime routines, hostel life teaches children independence, cooperation and the ability to live and grow together.

A Second Home

One Day. Many Experiences.

From the discipline of the morning drill to the curiosity of science, from assessments and NCC to yoga and tree plantation, and finally from shared meals to the warmth of hostel friendships, September 12 reflected what makes GDDS special.

Here, a school day doesn't end when the last class is over. Learning continues in the playground, the mess, the corridors, the library and the hostel, shaping not just students, but confident and responsible young individuals.
