

GOOD DAY DEFENCE SCHOOL

SAINIK SCHOOL HANUMANGARH

Beginning October with Academic Focus

Dear Parents,

October 3 at Good Defence School, Hanumangarh reflected a balanced day of academic focus, joyful learning, recreation and meaningful residential engagement as students moved towards the final phase of their Half-Yearly Examinations.

Half-Yearly Examinations – The Final Stretch

The Half-Yearly Examinations are nearing completion for students, marking the final stretch of an important academic phase. As examinations wrap up, students are gradually transitioning back into their regular learning rhythm, with teachers ensuring that the focus remains steady and purposeful.

Revision Continues

Learning Beyond the Exam

Alongside the examination schedule, revision classes continued for students after their papers, giving them opportunities to revisit concepts, strengthen understanding and prepare for the learning ahead.

This phase is not just about completing examinations, but about helping students consolidate what they have learned and identify areas that need further attention.

Learning Through the Senses

Our younger learners engaged in a sensory activity designed to help them understand and recognise letters. Through hands-on exploration, children experienced learning in a more interactive way, allowing them to connect letters with touch, observation and active participation.

For young learners, such sensory experiences make foundational learning more engaging, memorable and enjoyable.

Teamwork Through Play

Learning continued beyond the classroom as children participated in a team activity involving ball play. The activity encouraged students to interact, cooperate and participate together while developing coordination and a sense of teamwork. Sometimes, the simplest games create meaningful opportunities to learn how to share, communicate and work as a team.

A Midday Refreshment Break

After a focused morning of examinations, classes and activities, students enjoyed midday snacks and refreshments, providing a welcome break and a chance to recharge before continuing with the day's schedule.

Lunch & Leadership

Interaction at the Girls' Hostel

The girls' hostel also saw a meaningful interaction over lunch, with students sharing the meal with members of the school's leadership and administration:

Mr. L.P. Jain, Director of Hostel

Mr. Anurag Chhabra, Head of Administration

The lunch created an informal space for conversation and connection, allowing hostel students to interact with the leadership team in a relaxed setting.

Such everyday interactions are an important part of residential life, helping build trust, openness and a stronger sense of community within the hostel.

A Day of Balance at GDDDS

From the final stretch of examinations and revision to sensory learning, team play, refreshments and a shared hostel lunch, October 3 captured the rhythm of life at GDDDS:

Focus in academics.

Joy in learning.

Energy in play.

Connection in residential life.

As the Half-Yearly Examinations move towards completion, students continue to learn, participate and grow, one meaningful experience at a time.

Warm regards,
